

First prize float in the recent Flushing, L. I., baby parade. The youngster is Zoe Janet McKimmy, sixteen months old, and she represented Hawaii.

W. H. Wood Photo.

The latest evening gown from Paris—artistic, an uneven hem and a train.

Underwood & Underwood

On Washington's curb market. This young merchant sells "snowballs" made of shaved ice and flavored with strawberry or chocolate. His shop is a popular "joint" with the neighborhood youngsters.

Underwood & Underwood.

An American fashion. Wrap of silver lace topped with silver fox and lined with silver chiffon. A bit of silver is added at head and toe to make the outfit harmonize.

©Bonwit Teiber, from Wide World.

Officials of Yellowstone National Park make inspection before throwing open the gates for golden anniversary year.

Underwood & Underwood.

Miss Floreida Batson, holder of the American record for women in jumping the high and low hurdles, who will be one of the American team to participate in the first international track meet in Pershing stadium, Paris, August 20.

Underwood & Underwood.

William J. Donnelly, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Donnelly, who graduated from Annapolis Naval Academy this year. He graduated from Eastern High in 1918.

What becomes of the boys on a hot day in Washington? This photograph answers the question. It was snapped at the municipal pools.

©21st Century Press.

Miriam Battista, child star of Fannie Hurst's "Humoresque," who will make a personal appearance in Washington during the coming week.

Photo by Morrill.